BENGALS FACE FIRST GENUINE FOE IN AMES

Cyclone Followers Are Confident Their Eleven Will Triumph in Clash Here Saturday.

TIGER HOPES AT STAKE

Coach Phelan Expects to Have Local Athletes in Shape to Give Iowa Team a Real Battle.

The annual Conference Center goes into the first heat here Saturday, when the Ames Cyclone piloted by Maury Kent pays its respects to the Tigers. It will be the first opportunity Missouri players had to see Jimmy Phelan's 1921 collection of gridsters in action against a real foe.

Ames has already met and disposed of two Valley teams. For the curtain raiser at Ames, two weeks ago, Goe College was selected and trimmed. On the following Saturday Grinnell went to the block while the Ames rosters picked their concrete stands shouting for more demonstrations of what "Pol" Wallace and his clan intend to do in the Missouri machine.

By 5 o'clock Thursday night, Jim Phelan expects to have his athletes in condition for the frolic with the Ames aggregation. The battle with the Iowa State Collegians is admittedly the test of the Missourians for the current season. Ames is certain to be among the first four teams in rating in the Valley and a win over the Farmers would mean considerable to the Tiger hopes. On the other hand, a defeat would shunt the Old Gold and Black down among the second raters.

Iowa followers of the Cyclones are confident that their eleven can whip the Missourians.

It has always been the Tiger fortune to run foul of the Iowa State warriors early in the season. This has counted not a little in the final reckoning. With Missouri athletes actively engaged in practice almost three weeks before the Cyclone candidates discard overalls for city duds there has unusually been a bit to choose between the two elevens regarding condition.

This circumstance may be the deciding factor this year but the signs are pointing to an Ames team in top form and primed for a real football game. That the Tigers have been aided by poor condition in the Ames camp goes without question. Fight and hard work will do more, however, for the Tigers than anything else. Regardless of the form of Kent's athletes the Tigers can handle them if the breaks are even.

SIGMA CHI WINS IN SEMI-FINALS

Phi Delta Theta Nine Fights Hard but Takes Short End of 8-5 Score.

Sigma Chi went into the finals in the interfraternity baseball series yesterday when they defeated the Phi Delta Theta nine 8 to 5 in an exciting game. The teams led at two different stages in the game and at no time during the playing was victory securely tucked away for either Greek society.

Lowrance, pitching for the Sigma Chi's, was the individual star, striking out twelve of the men who faced him in seven innings. The Phi Del's used two pitchers, Denny striking out two men in three innings and Newell four in three. Phi Del pitchers received the more severe bombardment, being pounded for twelve hits while Lowrance was touched for six.

The first game of the finals will be played Saturday morning between Sigma Chi and the winner of the Kappa Alpha Kappa Sigma game played this afternoon. The finals include three games unless one team succeeds in winning the first two contests. The winner will be awarded the interfraternity baseball cup which has been held for the last two years by Beta Theta Pi. Any team winning the cup three successive years is awarded the cup permanently.

The score by innings:

Phi Delts ..... 102 001 0-5 6 4
Sigma Chi ..... 202 310 8-12 6
Batteries: Denny, Newell and Egan; Lowrance and Taylor.

HERE AND THERE IN VALLEY SPORTS

Down in St. Louis there are a great many people who believe that St. Louis University will beat Washington this year, when the two teams clash on Thanksgiving Day. Even when it was admitted that St. Louis was weak in years past and the Pikers strong, this contest has always been hard fought from every angle. Critics proclaim that in such a game, previous comparative scores should not enter, as intense rivalry always means a stiff fight with honors about even.

Few Valley followers realized that when the Kansas Aggies beat Washington last Saturday it was the first victory for the Kansas Aggies in three years over a Valley team. In that period of time the Aggies have tied several teams and have encountered a world of hard luck. Coach Bachman is said to have a strong eleven this season.

Neither Kansas nor Nebraska had a game scheduled for last Saturday. This is considered most unusual as both teams have strong games this week, and it seems peculiar that the authorities would pass up a chance for further conditioning of their men, and perhaps adding to the athletic association treasury.

Iowa State College with almost 7,000 students, and Iowa University with almost an equal number place the Hawkeye state among the foremost educational commonwealths in the country. It is no small wonder that the Iowa Collegians have a strong team this year with such a huge enrollment.

The usual list of casualties in the Tiger camp has now arrived with all the gusto of the fall football weather. Bundschu, Humes and Schwimmer, three of the stars of the Tiger camp, are on the sidelines. Bundschu is out for some little time, Schwimmer is just recovering, and Humes may be able to get into the lineup this week.

There were many throbbing hearts in the stands at Sportsmen's Park last Saturday afternoon when the Billikins marched to within a foot of the tiger's jaws. Here the brunt of a terrific attack was thrown at Storms and Hill and they repulsed the charge. However, it was too close for real comfort. St. Louis University followers are planning a drama entitled "The Last Charge," with Dixie Drake as the hero in the playlet.

The showing of Grinnell against Ames last Saturday is said to have been one of the games ever put up by a team representing the smallest college in the Missouri Conference. Ames with a powerful twin-six combination was able to obtain only a 21-0 verdict. Buddie Saunders, former Missouri University quarterback, is coaching the Grinnell aggregation this fall.

There seems to be some controversy as to just "how great" Polly Wallace was last season. He made All-Missouri Valley teams and All-Western teams while some critics selected him for All-American. Wallace was not picked on Walter Camp's mythical eleven but he was a member of the team which Walter Eckersall selected.

Jayhawk followers are jealous of the prestige Brutus Hamilton is attaining in football for the Tiger star now is certainly doing something that Everett Bradley is not attempting. The Cardinal and Blue followers will await with interest the coming of Brutus Hamilton with the Tiger team, Thanksgiving Day.

The advantage of having football players numbered was demonstrated very plainly last Saturday at Sportsmen's Park where it was impossible for even members of the home contingent to make out the St. Louis University players who were not numbered. Missouri, on the other hand, wore huge block letters on their backs and could be seen at a great distance. An immediate glance at a program showed the name of the player, opposite that of his number.

Doctor Williams of Minnesota, the strongest opponent of numbering players, is determined to defeat the scheme if possible. Believing that the plan affords too much help to visiting scouts he has evolved the idea of putting numbers running into three and four figures on the backs of the players.

A Correction.
A headline in the Missouriian yesterday announced the date of the Association of American Universities meeting here on October 3. The headline should have read November 3 the opening day of a three-day conference. The news story was correct.

NUMBERS OF STUDENTS ARE SEEKING WORK

200 Applications for Employment Have Been Filed With the Local Y. M. C. A.

A JOB OR NO SCHOOLING

Applicants Seek All Kinds of Clerical or Manual Labor, Skilled or Unskilled.

That the democratic spirit of the University of Missouri is favorable to students who work is the opinion of many who are caring their way, says Hugh C. Proctor, in charge of the employment department of the Y. M. C. A.

In answer to 200 applications filed with Mr. Proctor, he has placed 40 boys in permanent places since school opened and has given more than 100 odd jobs during the past month. Twenty permanent positions were given out by him before September 1. This does not include numerous selling propositions in which Mr. Proctor has placed students. The majority of the permanent positions consist of waiting on tables and firing furnaces. For this work, men receive their board and room or the cash equivalent.

In the employment files, are the names, addresses, telephone numbers and hours when applicants can work. When called in for help, it is easy to get in touch with the students. Many women do not call early enough for the aid they require, Proctor reports. At the last minute, boys who would like to work cannot be reached, thus disappointing all concerned.

Varied types of employment are wanted by the applicants. The list includes work desired in restaurants, in shoe stores, confectioneries, theaters, barber shops, as electricians, typists, chauffeurs, stenographers, accountants, musicians. The greatest demand is for boys who will wait tables and do extra work. Many students come here depending absolutely on the Y. M. C. A. to find them positions that will pay their expenses. One man came from Boston with about $5, with no expectation of work except that which the Y. M. C. A. might find for him. A place that pays his board, room and expense money was found.

There are a great many more who want work than can be supplied. Mr. Proctor reports. Sam Myerson, owner of the Pennant, says that he has had as many as six boys ask him for work in one day. Proprietors of other confectioneries report the same condition. D. W. Goode, manager of the Commons, finds that he has many more applications for work this year than he has had in many years. Business people report that students came here before the term opened looking for work, stating that if they did not find it, they could not remain.

The number of positions on record which have been filled by the Y. M. C. A. employment agency in no way represents the number of students working. The departments of the University employ student assistants in their offices and in departmental work. Then there are countless jobs that students find themselves. Friends and relatives pass positions on from one to another from year to year, keeping them in the family, so to speak.

COMING SALES

10:30 at Night!!

The Chilly Wind Howled Mournfully--

In the cozy warmth of the upstairs room, a group of Congenial Spirits were laying up memories of College days—and at the same time running close competition to Edison's four-hour sleep record.

—but they were hungry.

In the adjoining room sat the Intellectual Genius pouring over his studies. He passed a lagging hand over his bulging brow and closing his weary eyes hurled the textbook through a nearby window.

—he was hungry.

Tomorrow night, there will be hot chocolate or coffee delivered at their door, tasty pimento cheese sandwiches, hot ham sandwiches, cigars, cigarettes, candies, mints, pies, delivered without charge. All you'll have to do up to midnight is just call and it will be right out.
